THE GOOD FIGHT OF FAITH

Fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life, whereunto thou art also called, and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses. (1 Tim 6:12)

RANDALL JR, PATTI & RANDALL GRIER

We live in a fallen world. That is not negative talk; that is simply the truth. The environment man lives in now is not what it was before the flood. There was a time when men lived almost a thousand years. The conditions on the earth were different. The purity of the environment was different. The resources sustaining physical life were different. But after the fall and after the flood, conditions changed. We now live in a world where the environment itself presses against health, strength, and long life. That is one reason faith is not optional for the believer. It is necessary.

Many Christians often believe that every physical struggle is a direct attack from the devil in an unusual manner. Certainly the devil is the source of destruction, and sickness is never a blessing from God. But sometimes what people are battling is also the reality of living in a world that is no longer naturally conducive to long, healthy life. Food nutrients are not what they once were. Water is not what it once was. The environment is not like it used to be before the flood.

In such a world, you must learn how to create a faith environment around your own life.

A pressurized aircraft is able to take passengers where a human body cannot live on its own. Why?

Because the environment inside that aircraft is changed. More oxygen is supplied. The cabin is pressurized with more oxygen per square inch inside than outside. The atmosphere inside is made different from the atmosphere outside. That plane is flying in a realm where, without that altered environment, the people inside would die from a lack of oxygen. In much the same way, the believer must learn to live in a pressurized environment spiritually. We must allow the Word of God to create an atmosphere around our lives that counters what this fallen world is trying to impose upon us. That is not fantasy. That is Bible faith.

Several years back, a TBM 900 aircraft was flying at a high altitude that required the pressurization system to be functioning to put more oxygen into the cabin to sustain human life. This took place off the coast of Jamaica. The pilot was also accomplished in this aircraft.

While flying along at this high altitude, the oxygen pressurization system slowly began to fail. This went unnoticed by the pilot. The oxygen quantity became less and less in the aircraft cabin. The pilot and passengers experienced hypoxia and became unconscious. The plane flew on, by itself, because the autopilot was on. It eventually ran out of fuel and crashed into the Atlantic Ocean. There were no survivors.

It was not the pilot's fault that the system slowly began to fail. It was error on his part when he did not recognize the symptoms of hypoxia setting in. He had supplemental oxygen; they all could breathe until they got down to a safer altitude, if he had noticed it. The initial effects of a lack of oxygen (hypoxia) are the sense of euphoria or that all is well. You can get happy for no reason, so to speak. I train for this once a year because I have a pressurized aircraft. Some pilots train more than one time a year. All commercial airlines have oxygen masks above each passenger's head in case this occurs. I kindly suggest that you pay attention to how to use the mask when they are giving you instructions.

Many faith Christians are flying along in their lives not realizing that spiritual hypoxia has set in and they are going to crash in their faith. Christians, including us faith preachers, will die prematurely if we do not exercise our faith as we should.

He Dealt With Me

A while back, the Spirit of God began to deal with me about exercising my faith on a more consistent basis. I have always walked in faith, but I had let some things slip when it came to my using my faith. I looked back at many faith ministers to see how they passed away. I discovered that approximately 80% of them died prematurely. Only 20% lived long, full, healthy lives. These were ministers who had a special anointing to minister healing to those who had sickness and disease. Some ministered healing to millions of people over their lifespans. They still passed away prematurely. This reveals to us that no matter how anointed you are, you still have to act on your faith personally.

I would like to take a side journey here to answer this question. "Why do some, who are out of the will of God and even commit sin, live as long as they do?" This is because of the mercy of God. He knows they are facing severe judgment, which a lot of Christians/preachers don't believe, at the Judgment seat of Christ. He is giving them space to repent before they die (Revelation 2:5, 16, 21, 22, 3:3, 19). I had a vision, some years back, about two ministers who were yielding to seducing spirits and promoting false doctrine in the church. The Lord said He had given them space to repent, and they did not. They both died a short time later.

The number one way faith is released is through words. Death and life are in the power of the tongue. Our Father spoke the world into existence by the Words that He spoke. It is a release point for faith. Your words matter. They set a course. They establish an atmosphere. They either agree with God or they agree with the problem.

That is why it is important to say what you want to see happen in your body. Say, "With long life will he satisfy me, and shew me his salvation" (Psalm 91:16). Say, "Himself took our infirmities, and bare our sicknesses" (Matthew 8:17). Say, "By whose stripes ye were healed" (1 Peter 2:24). Say, "The healing power of God is working in me now." Say, "My body responds to the Word of God." Say, "Every organ, every tissue, every nerve, every cell in my body functions the way God designed it to function." That is not mind science. That is faith in God's Word acted upon with your mouth.

There are those who think this is too simple. But the gospel is simple. Naaman almost missed his miracle because the instructions were too simple for him. Many still stumble over simplicity. They want something difficult, mysterious, and complicated. But God's ways are often direct. Say the Word. Believe the Word. Act on the Word. Stay with the Word.

We have seen people overcome serious conditions by getting hold of the Word of God and refusing to turn loose of it. That is not theory. It happens. There are those who have fought major sickness and seen God bring healing into their body because they fed on the Word, listened to the Word, confessed the Word, and built themselves up in faith.

Do Not Let Opposition Pile Up

One of the practical truths that needs to be said is this: when things stack up on people, the fight gets harder. That is not unbelief. That is reality. People can get tired. They can get worn down. They can get overloaded in body and mind. That is why it is wise to deal with things while they are small and to hold them at bay with the Word of God before they become overwhelming.

A lot of decline that people accept as normal does not need to be accepted as normal. Some people begin to lose memory, strength, clarity, mobility, or bodily function and never push back with the Word. They assume it has to be that way. But why should the child of God quietly accept what the Word of God gives him authority to resist? You do not have to wait until something becomes severe before you begin speaking over your body. If you are noticing weakness in an area, speak the Word over that area. Do not hesitate to do so.

If you are noticing physical changes, speak the Word over your body. If you are noticing fear trying to get in, answer it with scripture. Build your environment with the Word before the pressure becomes great.

This is not fear. It is not fear to use your faith. It is not fear to confess the promise of God. It is not fear to stand against decline. Fear says, "I am doomed." Faith says, "God has provided better for me." Fear says, "There is nothing I can do." Faith says, "I have a covenant, a promise, and a name above every name." There is a difference between being body-conscious and being Word-conscious. We are not to become obsessed with symptoms.

We are not to live in fear of sickness. We are not to talk sickness all day long. But neither are we to sit back passively and let the world write the story of our health. The believer has better than that. We have the Word of the living God.

The Supernatural Is Ours

There is natural healing, and we thank God for every lawful means of help that relieves suffering and aids people. But there is also supernatural healing, and it still belongs to the church. Jesus has not changed. The Holy Ghost has not changed. Redemption has not changed. The promise has not changed. The covenant has not changed. The Word of God has not changed!

The church must stop talking as if healing belonged to another dispensation. It belongs to this one. The church must stop speaking as if long life were something God reserved for a select few. The scripture says, "With long life will I satisfy him, and shew him my salvation." The church must stop surrendering to the pressure of this world and begin again to pressurize its own environment with the Word of God.

You may be in a fight today. You may have symptoms in your body. You may be dealing with things that have lingered. You may have done all you know to do and still feel pressure. Do not throw away your confidence. Get back in the Word. Say what God says. Do what faith tells you to do. Receive what Jesus purchased. Tell what the Lord has done. Keep your environment filled with the Word, not with fear.

Remember the woman in Mark five? She had suffered long. She had spent all she had. She had grown worse. But when she heard of Jesus, everything changed. She said something. She did something. She received something. Then she told something. That pattern still works today because Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, and today, and forever.

Let this settle down in your spirit: you do not have to let everything this fallen world pushes toward you settle on your body unchecked. You can resist it with the Word.

You can counteract it with faith. You can build a different atmosphere around your life. You can say what God says until your heart and your mouth are in agreement with heaven.

Say the Word over your body. Say the Word over your mind. Say the Word over your life. Say the Word until fear leaves. Say the Word until faith rises. Say the Word until peace comes. Say the Word until your environment begins to change.

The Lord wants you healthy. He wants you strong. He wants you to enjoy life while you are here. He wants you to walk in the light of redemption. He wants you to know that Jesus took your infirmities and bare your sicknesses. He wants you to know that the healing power of God can flow through your body from the top of your head to the soles of your feet. Do not let the world have the loudest voice in your life. Let the Word speak louder. Let faith speak louder. Let the blood speak louder. Let Jesus be final authority. Say it. Believe it. Act on it. Receive it. And give God all the glory!

Stop Being Delusional

"Delusional" simply means severely mistaken about something. You are delusional if you think you can just float through life and not exercise your faith in God's Word. You are lazy and don't make yourself do what you know you are supposed to do. You can take selfies, party, scroll and wish things would change, but they never will unless you do.

This applies to the entire church world that thinks that our nation is going to improve without us doing something. I can't tell you everything right now, but demons are clinging to the White House, trying to overthrow our country. I am not speaking of President Trump. I am speaking of Satan and his spiritual wickedness in high places. I thank God for our great and mighty military and pray for them, but they can't stop the devil from overthrowing our nation. I thank God for our president and those in authority, but they cannot stop Satan from overthrowing our nation.

If the church does not throw away man's ideas and fall on its knees and seek God for His plans and purposes and pursue them, Satan will take advantage of us. The church, as a whole, is weaker than it has ever been. Strength comes from Him.

For when they shall say, Peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon them, as travail upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape. (1 Thessalonians 5:3)

Many meetings that are called moves of God today are nothing more than psychological, emotional, melodramatic encounters in the realm of the senses in which evil spirits operate. "And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works." (2 Cor.11:14-15)

Most of it is religious spirits that counterfeit the Holy Spirit. They speak, act, and move upon people with emotional experiences. They think it is God, but it is the devil in disguise!
